Grayling's Shoppenagons Inn Is Acquired By New Owner, Roy DeWitt

Grayling's Shoppenagons Inn is now under the ownership of Roy DeWitt, Roscommon, who bought the hotel last week. The inn was constructed in 1914 and early 1935. It was opened and operated until 1928 by a company formed of local citizens who had put in stock in order to build the inn.

In 1928, the management passed to the hands of the late Thomas Cassidy who operated the hotel until 1934 when he passed away. At that time, Mrs. Isabelle Cassidy, his widow, took over the active management of the hotel and continued ownership until her demise in May of this year. During the past several years, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy DeWitt, have been active managers of Shoppenagons.

The purchase by Mr. DeWitt included not only the hotel building proper but the Annex on Norway street and the building next to the hotel housing the Beniger's Men's Shop. Mr. DeWitt has appointed Arnold Mauren of Grayling as the inn's new manager and he took up his duties last Friday. Mr. Mauren was a former partner in the Big Wheel Service located south of Grayling on US-27 at the junction with M-26 and 18.

It was said that Mr. DeWitt has plans for extensive changes and modernization of the hotel which probably will be done during the coming winter season.

years, Mrs. Johnson was staff nurse at Mercy Hospital in Grayling.

Mrs. Johnson has been continuously active in both community and nursing activities. She is president of the North Central District Nurses Association, which includes registered nurses from Roscommon, Crawford, and Otsego counties. Traverse City State Hospital Seeks Aid

As the fall months approach, Traverse City State Hospital is again appealing to citizens, civic groups, churches, schools, etc., for assistance in its care and treatment program.

Except for the generosity of interested groups and individuals, many of the very important "extra things" which cannot be provided by the institution would not be available to patients. These items are extremely important to the progress of patients and mean much in the total treatment program toward preparing the patient for return to home and community.

Interested individuals and groups are urged to send commodities of every description, costume jewelry, games, puzzles, books, and clothing. Items for both men and women are greatly needed. In addition, there is a real need for record players, radios, pianos, and handcraft and needlecraft supplies of all kinds.

Items should be sent in care of the Community Relations Department, Traverse City State Hospital.

The Writing On The Wall . . .

An Oregon newspaper recently carried two particularly significant stories on the same day. One discussed the campaign to unionize California's hundreds of thousands of agricultural workers, with resulting strikes, picketing of farms and possible loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of crops.

The other announced the use by Oregon cherry growers of a "cherry shaker" as an answer to labor problems and higher costs. Similar mechanical equipment can also be used to harvest plums and prunes according to the head of agricultural engineering at Oregon State College. Michigan research workers estimate mechanical equipment may enable seven men to do the work of 33 hand pickers of cherries. As the purchasing power of the dollar drops and wages go up with no corresponding increase in production, costs are bound to rise, thus forcing the development of more and more labor saving machinery in the effort to hold down runaway prices.

The passage of federal minimum wage and hour laws and more and more "cradle to the grave" federal hand-outs simply aggravate the situation, put another turn in the inflation spiral, make it harder and harder for unskilled labor to get jobs, and drive up living costs.

What Kind? . . .

There will be federal legislation dealing with the problem of the medical needs of the aged. The question is what kind.

One proposal, which seems to have developed considerable support, particularly in political circles, would give medical, hospital and nursing home benefits to everyone drawing Social Security payments, whether or not they are in need. The dangers in this have been pinpointed by Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Fleming.

The proposal calls for a 1 per cent increase in the Social Security tax to meet the added costs. But this, the Secretary says, would be inadequate. In addition, there would be insistent pressure for improving the schedule of benefits and lowering age requirements. So the project, in his words, could easily lead to an addition of 4 to 5 per cent to the presently scheduled 9 per cent rate. This increase, plus the increase that will be required under the retirement, survivorship, and disability features of the program, could very well bring the payroll tax up to somewhere between 15 per cent and 20 per cent. That, coming on top of all our other taxes, would certainly approach if not reach an unbearable point.

The best solution to the problem so far proposed is found in the Mills bill, which passed the house by voice vote. It is a voluntary plan. It would provide medical aid for the actual needy—not everyone who has reached a certain age, regardless of his financial status. And it is based on federal-state cooperation, with heavy emphasis on local responsibility and administration. It deserves Senate approval, and the President's signature.

Work on the new sewage disposal plant is progressing very nicely and it is hoped to have it ready for operation by sometime in October. Considerable trouble has been experienced from shallow water, this however, has been well overcome. The sludge bed section is in the low land and pumps had to be constantly in use in order to keep the ground free enough from water in order to pour the cement floors. Already completed are the digester, coronator, boiler house, sludge beds and sedimentation tank. City Manager George Granger says the plant is from 65 to 70% finished and will probably be put into operation some time in October.

The handicap tournament played by the ladies of the Grayling Golf club ended last Saturday, with Miss Jayne Keyport winning out over Mrs. C. G. Clippert in the finals. A complete report of the tournament up to the finals appeared in last week's paper, and the thirty-six holes of the finals which were played off Friday and Saturday by Miss Keyport and Mrs. Clippert proved to be very exciting with Miss Keyport coming out on top to be the 1937 Champ Handicap Tournament Champion. This is not the first glory in the way of golf to have come to the champ. In 1934 Miss Keyport sank the putt to make her Champion of the Championship tournament, as she did in the Handicap tournament in 1935.

Progress has been so rapid in constructing Grayling's new post office building that it is expected occupancy will occur about December first, or three months in advance of the time originally contemplated.

Capt. Russell E. Bates, just home from three year's service in the Philippines, gave an interesting account of conditions he found in his army service in the islands and also some sidelights pertaining to the Chinese-Japanese troubles, at the Kiwanis club meeting. His first assignment was as commander of the fort of Drum Island. This is of solid rock hewn down to the water's edge and built up in the form of a battleship. It has an area of 8/10ths of an acre and is occupied only by Army officers and army laborers. He considers Fort Drum as the strongest fortification in existence. Another assignment was as commander of the fort on Corregidor Island, and later as commander of an army vessel doing duty.
